

Overview of ENN contribution to the TAN

- ENN is a UK based organisation focused on strengthening evidence and know-how for effective nutrition interventions in countries prone to crisis and high levels of malnutrition. ENN uses a variety of approaches to capture and disseminate nutrition related programmatic learning and technical evidence.
- The ENN component of the TAN programme will involve the provision of tailored KM services to the SUN Movement (Output 5 of the overall TAN programme.) ENN will leverage its existing nutrition sector KM products and platforms including the publications Nutrition Exchange and Field Exchange, and online forum en-net which already serve a large audience of programmers and policymakers working in nutrition at country level. In addition, ENN will develop additional KM activities and products tailored to the needs of stakeholders involved in nutrition scale up at country level including new digital content and platforms and face-to-face learning opportunities.
- ENN work on the TAN will be led by a dedicated team of KM specialists with a small team based in the UK and regional KM specialists based in Asia and Africa. This “embedded” approach will allow the regional teams to work closely with people involved in scaling up nutrition at country level.
- The SUN Movement Road Map 2016-2020 outlines the need for Tailored support to countries with specific contextual challenges, especially fragile contexts. ENN KM work within the TAN programme will focus on SUN countries that are defined as Fragile and Conflict Affected States (FCAS), recognizing that nutrition scale up in these countries requires unique approaches and tools, and will require collaboration and exchange with the emergency and humanitarian nutrition actors working in those countries. The ENN focus countries for the first two years of implementation are:

Sub- Region	Focus countries Y1 & Y2
East Africa	Yemen, Sudan, South Sudan, Ethiopia, Somalia, Kenya
Asia	Pakistan, Bangladesh, Nepal, India, Myanmar, Indonesia
West Africa	Niger, Mali, Chad, DRC, Nigeria, Senegal

- ENN will provide a monthly update on progress and planned activity to TAN partners and DFID in the first week of each month.
